

Simulation of Colloids in Multiphase Flows

Fabian Jansen

Small particles in multicomponent flows play an important role in some natural systems as well as in industrial applications.

To simulate these systems, a Shan-Chen multicomponent Lattice Boltzmann model is combined with molecular dynamics to study the formation of Bijels and solid stabilized emulsions (Pickering-Emulsions).

.